

MOB OF LYNCHERS
IN BELOIT TODAY.ENRAGED SHOPIERE FARMERS SURROUNDED THE JAIL.

Five Young Scoundrels Who Enticed the Little Ferrin Girl Into a Stone Quarry Are Threatened With Short Shift By the Band Of Men From Turtle.

BELOIT, July 3.—This city is all astir with excitement. About 2 o'clock this morning a crowd of about one hundred Shopiere citizens armed with all kinds of firearms drove into the city with the determination to "string up" the dastards that committed the outrage on the young Ferrin girl. They heard the rumor that the girl was dead, and learning that the toughs had only been placed under $300 bail decided that that was a poor exhibition of law for Wisconsin and were determined to take the law in their own hands. They were partially quieted by Marshal Appleby, but when they learned that some of the men they wanted were over the line, beyond the jurisdiction of the Beloit officials, they made a very thorough search, even going through the house of Durgan Butler, one of the crowd that assaulted the girl. If he or any of the others had been found it would have gone hard with them.

"Silver" Wescott, one of the toughest of the gang, was caught last night and placed in jail and it required a good deal of persuasion on the part of the police to keep the angry farmers from tying him up.

The physician in attendance on the Ferrin girl says she will probably not recover and this fact fills her excited friends with a desire for revenge. The crowd from Shopiere was quieter at noon but there were ominous meetings that promise no good to those charged with the brutal crime.

Poor But Kindly.

Clerk—I am to be married shortly. Couldn't you manage to increase my salary a little?

Employer—Couldn't, really. But I'll tell you what I'll do for you, my boy. I'll shorten your hours during the first three months, so that you can spend your evenings at home, and after that I'll lengthen them again, so that you will have an excuse to get away.—N. Y. Weekly.

An Awful Symptom.

Mrs. New Wed (in tears)—Oh, George, I'm so glad you've come. You must go for the doctor at once. I'm sure something serious is the matter with baby.

Mr. New Wed—Why; what makes you think so? Has he symptoms of croup, whooping cough, measles?

Mrs. New Wed—Oh, no, no; something more serious, I'm sure. He hasn't cried today.—Brooklyn Life.

German Discipline.

There was to be a grand review and inspection of the troops of a German garrison town. A corporal gave the following order to the soldiers:

"Now, men, if the major asks you how you like your grub, you say: 'Good.' If a colonel asks you, you must reply: 'Very good.' If the general asks you, you must speak up and say: 'It couldn't be better.'"

In Inverse Ratio.

Mr. De Koltay (as his wife makes her appearance dressed for the ball)—You are the most inconsistent woman I ever knew.

Mrs. De Koltay—What is the matter now?

Mr. De Koltay—The less you put on the longer it takes you to do it.—N. Y. World.

Better Than a Havana.

"Truth," said Mr. McGuck, "O! tink this cigar that me boss give me is the virry bist van O! iver smoked. It's called a Kay Wist. Now, Feeney, that is the bist cigar ye iver smoked?"

"Sure," replied Feeney, "the bist cigar O! iver smoked wuz a poine."—Life.

A Financial Transaction.

"It will cost me a grreat deal to gif you up," said the adoring count von Schwarzbrod.

"No, count," said the beautiful American heiress, looking at him with tearful eyes. "It will not cost you as much as you think. Papa has failed."—Chicago Record.

How to Butter Thin Bread.

"I like my sandwiches with the bread cut thin," said Mr. Googleby, "but I seldom try to make them in that way myself, for they always make me angry, the bread crumbles and curls up so when I try to spread it. Mr. Googleby has no such trouble, however, and this mornin' I discovered why; she butters the cut end of the loaf before cuttin' off the slice. Simple, ain't it, and Mrs. Googleby tells me it's as old as the hills."

VICTORIA'S LOVE AFFAIRS.

Lords Elphinstone, Fitzalan and Paget Paid Court to the Young Queen.

Some of the very old folks in British aristocratic society recall that before her marriage to Prince Albert of Gotha and Saxe-Coburg she had had several love affairs. Her first lover was the late Lord Elphinstone, a tall, singularly handsome young Scottish peer, who was sent to Madras as governor to get him out of the way. Her next was Lord Fitzalan, another scion, a splendid young officer of the First Life guards, afterward duke of Norfolk.

Her third lover was Lord Alfred Paget, one of the marquis of Anglesea's splendid sons, an officer in "the Blues," standing about six feet two, who is the father of Captain Paget, married to Miss Minnie Stevens, and who was then her quarry-in-chief, and has continued as quarry ever since. This love affair was regarded as so dangerous that King Leopold of Belgium, the queen's uncle, was sent for. The result was that Prince Albert was sent for next. Albert was at that time, a courteous, quiet, mild, bland, accomplished prince. The affair was quietly managed by Leopold. In the court circle the prince's name found rather a mean and minored place, and as the prince and queen went out the evening after his arrival for a stroll in the woods, their stroll was unobserved except by the select few who were in the secret.

But Victoria's maid, a mischievous, merry little elf from Longenschwalbach, and who was more excited that evening than Victoria herself—prattled to the court newsmen of how Albert's meek eyes, when they returned, were radiant with joy and Victoria looked slightly flushed, and wore in her girdle a small flower—the flower of a love which, through all the darkness of widowhood, has never lost its freshness—and her straw cottage hat was crushed back in front. The club man calling next morning for his tea and toast and Times was startled by the announcement that "her majesty was about to lead to the hymeneal altar his royal highness Prince Albert of Gotha and Saxe-Coburg"—and thus Victoria was wooed and won.

HIS EXPERIENCE WITH GUM.

A Monkey Tries What It Is Like But Finds It Stringy.

A mild-mannered man walked up to the cage of an unshaven son of the forest, wearing among his other clothes, a prehensile tail and a face as solemn as a Wesleyan deacon of the old-fashioned type. The monkey was critically examining a peanut, wondering, possibly, whether it would be worth opening. The man laid an innocent looking little roll of something on the outer ledge of the cage. Now, a monkey's curiosity is only equalled by his avarice. He will take anything in sight, whether he wants it or not. So the ring-tailed resident of the cage took this roll in. At first it was not possible to see what he had acquired, but in an instant the mystery was solved.

He placed it once to his mouth and took a generous bite. It proved to be a second-hand piece of chewing gum. As he removed his paw a few onlookers were well nigh thrown into spasms, for the wax strung out in an ever-dwindling string, and as it drew away from him the monkey surveyed the string calmly but curiously. If ever a monkey assumed an expression of heart consuming bliss it was that monkey. There was just enough sugar in the pasty stuff to make it very palatable to him and he curled his tail, rolled his eyes upward with an agonizing look, and murmured to himself: "This is heaven to me." But the wax, under his emphatic treatment, began to show signs of rebellion. It got warm and stuck in his paw, and while he was trying to solve the problem, there encountered, it locked his jaws. Then he began to yawn and to pray for a tooth-pick, and to wish for the man who had given him the gum; but that worthy was far away.

An Ostrich Skin Rug.

One of the most interesting curiosities for which sea captain's cabins are noted is possessed by Captain Peabody of the ship Tam O'Shanter. It is a rug made of six ostrich skins, with feathers entire, sewed with catgut strings. The captain obtained it on one of his voyages to Patagonia. The work shows considerable skill and an eye for color effects possessed by the Patagonians, for the colors are most artistically blended. Captain Peabody asserts that it is almost impenetrable to the cold, and maintains its pristine freshness and durability against all the rough handling on shipboard.

Cock-Crowing Contests.

A new and novel amusement has been introduced in Belgium which permits the peasants to have some sport. It is a sort of competition in cock crowing, and the game is conducted in this way. In a garden are placed rows of cages, each containing a cock. Before each cage, about a yard away, stands the marker, who notes the crows of his bird. The competition lasts for an hour, and it is the cock which has crowed the loudest that takes the prize. At the last competition a rooster crowed 131 times.

BLOCKADE RAISED

LESS SANGUINARY.

Government Troops Not Called to Blue Island—A Few Trains Moved at Danville, By the Aid of the Militia—The C. & N. W. Depot Nearly Desolate.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The strike situation is not improved this morning. The blockade still continues at Blue Island.

There were some trains moved in Danville today by the aid of the militia and the blockade was temporarily raised.

The government has not yet sent troops to Blue Island.

Strikers on the Baltimore & Ohio road detached a passenger train this morning at Rock Island Junction. The engineer was injured.

No trains left the C. & N. W. depot today. The trains were made up at A line on Heights, express and mail matter being taken there in wagons.

All the men on the Nickle Plate went out to-day.

SAID IN JEST.

Landlady—What portion of the chicken will you have, Mr. Brown? Boarder—About a quarter, thank you. She, severely—Henry, what is a poker-chip? He, frankly—It's a chip off a poker, I suppose? Did I guess it?

"Pa, are you still growing?" "No, Frank; what makes you think so?" "Because the top of your head is coming through your hair."

Missionary—The money which you have given to the cause will be like bread cast upon the water. Drummer Oh, that's all right. I shall charge it to my expenses.

She—And now, my dear, having given you a bit of my mind I'm off to the dentist to have my tooth filled. He—Ask him to fill the rest of your mouth while he's about it.

Beggar—Kind sir, pray give me a shilling for my six hungry children? Passer-by—Awfully sorry; but I'm not buying hungry children just now; I've got nine at home already.

Sunday Morning: Wife—Come, John, why don't you get up? Your breakfast was ready an hour ago and it's spoiled by this time. Husband—Is it? Very well; then I don't want it. Call me in season for dinner.

Freddie—You say you are sure Miss Evinston takes great pleasure in your company? The Bore—Sure. Why last night she told me that an hour spent with me was equal to a year spent with any one else.

"Mistah," said an urchin to the man who was driving a very poor horse, "does yoh want me to hol' 'im?" "No; this horse won't run away." "I didn't mean hol' 'im fas' so's he won't run away. I meant hol' 'im up, so's he won't drop."

Fair Maiden, a summer boarder—How savagely that cow looks at me! Farmer Hayseed—It's your red parol, mam. Fair Maiden—Dear me! I knew it was a little bit out of fashion, but I didn't suppose a country cow would notice it.

CURRENT SCIENCE.

A Berlin chemist claims to have discovered a chemical preparation which will turn a living person to marble in six months, the petrification being complete one month after death. You can have your choice of white, black or mottled marble, and if a good figure you will be worth £500 as a piece of statuary.

Bacteriologist Herman M. Biggs of New York has made a report to the board of health of the results of his investigation into 268 cases of so-called "membranous croup." He says that his observations justify the conclusion that the disease is nothing more or less than laryngeal diphtheria. He recommends that membranous croup should be put on the list of contagious diseases, concerning which reports from physicians to the health board are required.

Another article formerly included among those considered and treated as worthless has recently been added to the useful products, and is known as mineral India rubber asphalt. This article is produced during the ordinary process of refining tar by sulphuric acid, and forms a black material very much like common asphalt, and elastic like India rubber. On being heated so that the slimy matter is reduced to about sixty per cent of its former size there results a substance hard, like ebony; it can be dissolved in naphtha, and is an excellent non-conductor of electricity, being therefore valuable for covering telegraph wires and for purposes where a non-conducting substance is needed.

Lord Coleridge's Successor.

LONDON, July 2.—It is officially announced that Sir Charles Russell, formerly attorney-general, who recently succeeded the late Sir Charles Bowen as lord justice of her majesty's court of appeals, has been appointed to succeed Lord Coleridge, who died on June 14 last, as lord chief justice of England.

THE ESSENTIAL POINTS.

The Reporter Was Asking too Many Questions to Be Agreeable.

"What were the particulars of the accident?" inquired the reporter.

"The cable car was going at a high rate of speed," replied the little man who had rushed breathlessly into the city editor's room for the purpose of giving the Daily Bread an item of news. "Just as it turned the corner a man in a light open buggy tried to drive across the track. The grip car struck the buggy squarely, knocked the man out and he fell senseless on the pavement. A policeman arrested the gripman and the injured man was carried into Van Plunk's drug store, right on the corner. Ever been in that drug store? Elegantly fitted up, open nearly all night, largest soda fountain in that part of town, and—"

"What was the extent of the man's injuries?"

"He was hurt on the head, I think, but I didn't wait to see how badly. I jumped on another car and came right down to give you the story. In writing it up you can say—"

"What was his name?"

"I didn't ascertain."

"Who was the gripman?"

"I didn't inquire."

"Do you know the name or number of the policeman?"

"No."

"Then, how do you suppose I can write the thing up if you don't give me any names?"

"Great Scott! Haven't I told you he was carried into Van Plunk's drug store? What more do you want?"

"Yes, but—"

"Anybody in that part of town can tell you who Van Plunk is and what kind of—"

"May I ask your name?"

"Yes, sir. My name is Van Plunk!"

RENTING FLATS.

The Best Tenants Are Couples Just Married.

"We experience some of the most provoking incidents of the real estate business," said a New York agent "dealing with families with pets. Between having apartments vacant and getting objectionable tenants in them we are often between the devil and the deep sea. It is a curious fact that people without children usually have some sort of pet or pets. While it is desirable to get tenants with no small children, there are children and children, you know; and so there are pets and pets. I have steered away from the Seylla of children only to go to pieces upon the Charybdis of a mocking bird or a terrier. Funny isn't it, how childless couples will get the noisiest creatures for pets? To take the place of children, I presume. The gilt-edged tenant is the couple who had children, raised them and married them off. There is no nonsense about that sort. Only they are awfully cranky about others. Having been through all that sort of thing, they have a desire to live the rest of their days in peace and quietude, and they naturally object to children and dogs and birds, and anything that interferes with their idea. And they dread a piano more than a bulldog or a seven-year-old boy. The newly married pair is, as a matter of course, the most desirable. They have no pets but each other, and bother nobody and stand anything. My idea of an earthly paradise is an apartment house filled up with newly married couples."

An Ominous Sign.

One of the most ominous signs in the eyes of those who are in favor of Irish home rule is the fact that the boycott of the vicerey by the English and Irish aristocracy, as well as by the gentry of the Emerald Isle, has been entirely abandoned since Lord Roseberry's accession to the premiership, and such bitter opponents of the measure as Lord Inchiquin, who, up to the date of the retirement of Mr. Gladstone would have nothing whatever to do with the castle at Dublin, is now a guest of Lord Houghton, who is beginning to find his job a great deal pleasanter from a social point of view.

One of the Oldest.

Noah Raby, an inmate of the poor farm of Piscataway township, about three miles from New Brunswick, N. J., is probably the oldest living inhabitant of New Jersey. He asserts that he is 122 years old, and the story of his life, which is quite interesting, is corroborated in many particulars by Henry G. Hummer, overseer of the poor farm, who has known Raby for half a century. He firmly believes the old man is at least 110 years of age, if not older.

Iceland Has the Grip Bad.

According to the latest advices received from Iceland a violent epidemic of influenza is raging at Reykjavik. No papers have been published for a week, and about ninety per cent of the inhabitants are said to be suffering from the complaint. The high school has been forced to close, all the masters with one exception and almost all the pupils being attacked.

Big Russia.

The smallest of the ten governments, or provinces, of Southern Russia is more than twice the size of Wales, while the largest is little less in area than Scotland. The total area of the ten governments exceeds that of France or Spain, while the population is greater than that of Spain by about 4,000,000.

HE WAS A PHILADELPHIAN.

Notwithstanding Which Fact He Made a Good Bargain in New York.

"Talk about Philadelphians being slow," said an up-town dealer in rare books to a New York Evening Sun man; "why, I'll tell you about a little incident that happened the other day."

"A Philadelphian who has a nice collection of rare engravings and etchings came to this city on a visit and was almost stranded financially before he knew it. An ordinary man would have written or telegraphed home for cash. But this one didn't. He was strolling down Broadway, undecided whether to continue his walk as far as Philadelphia or not, when he came to a little shop where engravings and etchings are sold."

"His mania for collecting forced him to enter the shop and examine the stock, although he didn't have money enough to buy a fair-sized chromo. Turning over a number of etchings and engravings laying upon a sort of bargain table at the rear of the shop he came across a fine copy of the celebrated Rajon portrait of Tennyson, of which he had a highly prized specimen in his own collection. Thinking it strange that the etching should be lying among the other cheap objects on the table he asked its price of a clerk."

"Take it along for a quarter," said the clerk.

"All right," said the Philadelphian, rolling up the etching and paying over the money.

"Shall I wrap it up for you?" asked the clerk.

"Oh, no, you needn't mind," and the Philadelphian walked off with his prize. He did not walk far, though. Stopping at a well-known engraving dealer's shop not four blocks away the Philadelphian man offered the etching for sale.

"Twenty-five dollars," was the offer of the dealer. The Philadelphian man accepted the money, although it was but little more than half the price at which the Rajon portrait is catalogued, and went his way. He paid all the expenses of his New York trip at one stroke."

A Country of Public Baths.

Nearly all American and European visitors to Japan speak with admiration of the public baths of that country. In the city of Tokio there are between 800 and 900 public bathing establishments, each frequented daily by at least 300 people, who pay for the privilege so small a sum that no one is too poor to afford it. Outside of these baths the Japanese are much given to bathing in their own homes. They are one of the cleanest races in the world. Travelers from the Western world frequently express regret that in Europe and America there are no such establishments.

Colonel Yerger does not think it is right to bestow promiscuous charity. A few days ago a beggar met him, and applied to him for pecuniary assistance. After considerable reflection Colonel Yerger responded with a reluctant quarter and an expression of sympathy.

SOCIALS IN THE PARK ARE UNDER THE BAN

COMMON COUNCIL SAYS THEY MUST STOP.

To Allow Public Ground to Be Used For Such Purposes Is to Exclude a Portion of the People—Aldermen In the Parade—Council Doings.

Janesville churches are excluded from holding picnics and lawn socials in court house park. The matter came up in regular meeting of the council last evening, when Alderman Winslow of the park committee presented a resolution authorizing the park committee to permit societies to hold socials and picnics on the public grounds. This met with decided opposition, Alderman Smith making a set speech in opposition to its adoption, explaining that the parks were kept up for the public, and to permit the use of the grounds by societies in the manner proposed would in a measure exclude the public. The eyes and noses were demanded on the passage of the resolution, as follows: Ayes—Alderman Cunningham, Rich, Sutherland, Winslow, 4. Noes—Alderman Baines, Heddles, Kothman, McLean, Smith, 5. Alderman Child was absent. The resolution was declared lost.

The annual report of the directors of the public library was presented and referred to committee on schools. The monthly report of Health Officer Robinson showed seven cases of scarlet fever in the city during June and no fatal cases. Judge Phelps' June report was approved.

Many Orders Passed. The appointment by the mayor of John Kruse as special police to October 1, and P. McGinley and Edward Smith to September 22, was confirmed. The council accepted an invitation from the Fourth of July committee to join the Fourth of July parade.

Orders were adopted as follows: By Alderman Heddles—To permit J. H. Phillips to construct a sewer in Mineral Point avenue. By Alderman Rich—To directing the bridge committee to paint Fourth avenue bridge. By Alderman Kothman—Directing the location of a fire hydrant at the corner of South Jackson street and Western avenue. By Alderman Winslow—To repair band stand in court house park. By Alderman Baines—To repair sidewalks on North Jackson and West Bluff streets. By Alderman Sutherland—Locating fire hydrants on Milton avenue, north of St. Mary's avenue—one every four hundred feet, between St. Mary's avenue and Benton avenue. Also that street commissioners serve notices for sidewalk on East street and North First street, Dawson's subdivision.

HIGH SCHOOL PLANS COMPARED

Several Sketches Laid Before the School Board Last Night.

The city school board spent considerable time last evening in the examination of the half dozen plans submitted for the proposed new high school building. J. G. Chandler of Racine; W. A. Cole of Chicago; T. D. Allen of Minneapolis; F. W. Hollister of Saginaw, Michigan; Perkins and Selby of Chicago, and F. W. Kemp of Janesville were the architects submitting sketches. Some of the buildings represented were handsome and commodious. No conclusions were reached, the selection of a plan being deferred until Friday evening, giving members of the board opportunity to make more detailed examinations of the several sketches.

Commissioner Moutat presided at the meeting, President Goldin being absent on account of the illness of his wife. Benjamin R. Hill received four votes in the election of a janitor for the high school, and was declared elected. B. W. Bergman, who was janitor last year, receiving the other two votes. This was the only change made in the janitor force, all the other janitors being retained.

Miss Roberta Holmes, of Iowa City, Iowa, was elected a teacher in the high school, vice Miss Clara Weir resigned, her salary being fixed at sixty dollars per month. Bills were audited amounting to $375.08.

FIFTEEN BURIED IN OAK HILL.

Last Month There Were Eight From This City Laid to Rest.

There were fifteen interments in Oak Hill during the month of June, eight being credited to this city and seven to other places, as follows: June 1—Infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Banker, Janesville.

After the Calithumpian review there will be foot and bicycle races.

At 8 o'clock p. m. there will be a grand Mardi Gras parade through the business streets, after which the fireworks will take place at the court house park and corn exchange.

HOSPITAL IN NEED OF FUNDS.

Important Meeting of the Board of Directors Last Evening.

The board of directors of the hospital association held a special meeting at the Carrington office last evening, to discuss ways and means for the support of the institution. The stringency of the times and the general lack of interest, has made it difficult to pay expenses, and the association finds itself in debt, with no means for immediate relief. After free discussion the officers were authorized to borrow what money was necessary, for sixty days, and the secretary was instructed to call a meeting of the stockholders at the rooms of the Business Men's association Wednesday evening, July 11, to discuss ways and means for the future. The stockholders number something over one hundred.

That the hospital has been a blessing to the city no one will question. That it should be maintained, is also generally conceded; and yet it is a fact that for the past year the institution has been steadily running behind, and unless radical methods are adopted, it is only a question of time when the enterprise will be abandoned. More than half of the patients are charity cases and more than half of the expenses must be met if met at all by contribution. This can only be done by systematic work. At least $1,500 must be raised every year in this way, and unless the citizens take interest enough in the institution to keep it up it will be necessary to abandon the enterprise.

The board of directors have contributed cheerfully of time and money but a crisis has been reached where outside help is needed, and it was deemed advisable to lay the matter before the stockholders as stated.

The Gazette believes that the hospital is a worthy institution and that it should be maintained. It can be done if enough charitably disposed people are willing to contribute stated sums annually for its support. Every stockholder should be present at the meeting July 11.

DOINGS IN OLD ROCK SINCE LAST WEEK.

BIG RATTLESNAKE KILLED BY A COOKSVILLE MAN.

Tobacco Moving at 5 and 6 Cents For '93 Goods—Milton Woman Dead Of Paralysis—Chinch Bugs Thick Around Shopiere But Very Little Damage Done.

COOKSVILLE, July 3.—I. A. Porter and Lewis Erickson and Thomas Nelson sold their '93 crop of tobacco to Charles Culton of Edgerton for five and six cents. Will Pratt killed a large rattlesnake while breaking sod on his grandfather's farm two miles from this place. Mr. and Mrs. Lyss Miller of Milton are happy over the birth of a little son. Mrs. Eliza Morely of Dunkirk visited friends here last week. Miss Julia Searles of Stoughton, is staying with her aunt, Mrs. Preston. Lynn Whaley visited in Franklin last week with Frank Lockwood. George Ingraham of Union is calling on friends here. Lawn socials are so numerous it is hard to keep posted about them. Mrs. Mary Franklin returned from York state after a three week's visit with her mother. Mr. and Mrs. Lease and Mr. Wright of Janesville, attended Sunday school here Sunday and all enjoyed their talk very much.

MILTON WOMAN DIES OF PARALYSIS.

Mrs. W. T. Millar Passes Away Suddenly—Mrs. E. T. Hamilton Dead.

MILTON, July 3.—Mrs. W. T. Millar died Friday evening of paralysis. Deceased had a shock some weeks since and had partially recovered from its effects when the second attack occurred. Mrs. Millar had made many friends here since herself and husband located in the village. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. J. D. Cole, of Janesville, officiating, assisted by Revs. Bray of Lima, and Farnham, of Milton. Rev. Webster Millar and wife, of Stevens Point, Rev. Perry Millar and wife, of Marinette, Rev. Frank Millar and Rev. W. B. Miller and wife, of New York City were in attendance.

Mrs. E. T. Hamilton, who has been failing for several weeks, died Saturday morning. Deceased was a kind friend and neighbor and will be missed in the community. She leaves a husband, son and daughter to mourn her departure. The funeral services were held at the house Monday afternoon, Rev. George W. Burdick, of Milton Junction, officiating, assisted by Rev. E. M. Dunn. Willard Austin, the Chicago druggist, was in the village Saturday. He is camping at Lake Koshkonong. The strawberry crop is no more, and raspberries are now being eaten. Strawberries lasted nearly a month. The Blue Diamonds went out to North Johnstown Saturday afternoon and did up the ball club there by a score of 29 to 11. Grove D. Clarke, a former resident here, is visiting old friends.

Editor Spence of the Geona Junction Journal, spent Saturday and Sunday with his family. He is pleased with his new location. Charles Walker and wife, of Colorado, are visiting their Milton relatives. Mr. Walker was born here. Miss Grace Miller not George Miller, delivered the oration at the commencement program entitled "The Jeweled Ring." Prof. C. H. Maxson rides a '94 model Columbia that is a dandy. Rev. W. H. Summers left Monday for Nova Scotia, his old home and points in New England. He has a vacation of six weeks at the expiration of which himself and wife will return to their Milton home.

Dr. J. W. Stillman will remain here during vacation and give lessons to all who desire his services. Prof. J. D. Bond and family of St. Paul, have rooms in the Gifford house and will spend two months here. J. C. Goodrich left from his ice wagon Thursday, striking on his hip. No bones were broken, but the tendons were badly strained and his back injured quite seriously. He is able to be out again this week. The "Imperials" were obliged to respond to ecores every time they appeared and they did it cheerfully. The church was packed and a large audience took the concert "in free" from the sidewalk. The office in the old Milton House is now used as a broom factory by Tefft & Co. The friends of Miss Lillian Rood made her a surprise party Saturday evening and all had a jolly good time. Fred Bond, of West Side, Iowa, attended the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Hamilton. Miss Lulu Williams has gone to Iowa to visit friends. H. S. Sloan, candidate for district attorney "did Milton up" Monday and made friends.

FOURTH OF JULY IN JOHNSTOWN

Celebration in Rice's Grove Is Planned—Personal Talk About Town Folk

NORTH JOHNSTOWN, July 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Ely visited in Lima last Wednesday. Alva Bevis and family expect to spend the Fourth in Janesville. School closed in the Palmer district last Friday. Covenant meeting at the church next Saturday at 2 p. m. Willard Johnson and wife, of Milton Junction, attended services here last Sunday. Thomas Goodyear and wife attended services at Lima last Sunday. There will be a grand celebration in T. Rice's grove the Fourth. Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson attended church here July 1. Miss Mabel Shumway and a friend are visiting at W. H. Newton's. Henry Ball is visiting R. L. Cary. Miss Rose Walker is on the sick list at present. Covenant meeting next Saturday. All are invited. Glen Osborn, wife and son visited at grandpa's Saturday. Elmer Bingham's youngest child is on the sick list. Clark Harris and family drove over to Richmond Sunday afternoon to visit Mrs. Harris' sister, Mrs. Emery Holbrook, who has just returned from a journey to California. The Blue Diamonds, of Milton, came out Saturday and played ball with the North Johnstown nine. This is the third game that has been played by these nines. Two of the games were won by the home nine and one by the Diamonds. The third game might have been otherwise but two of the home nine did not come.

Fair and Beautiful Lands Across the Sea.

Give promise to the ocean voyager of health and pleasure, but there is a broad expanse of waters to be passed that rise mountain high in rough weather and grievously disturb the unaccustomed stomach, more particularly if it is that of an invalid. Moreover, the vibration of the vessel's hull caused by the motion of the screw of a steamer, a change of water and latitude, and abrupt transitions of temperature, cannot without a medicinal safeguard, be encountered with impunity. For sea sickness, and prejudicial influences of air and water, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a standard safeguard. Tourists, yachtsmen, mariners, commerce travelers, and people bound on a sea voyage or inland jaunt, should always be provided with it. Incomparable for malaria, rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, sick headache, biliousness, and constipation.

RARE AND VARIED.

Last spring a pair of robin red-breasts made their nest in a pew of Thames Park chapel, Oxfordshire, and successfully reared a brood of young. They did not appear in the least disturbed by the services.

A sturgeon weighing 1,440 pounds was caught in the Caspian sea two weeks ago. The head alone weighed 228 pounds and the fish furnished about 120 pounds of roe for caviare. The fish was sold for $160.

Appointments to the New York police force are based upon a required height, 5 feet 9½ inches, in the applicant, but some of the "finest" seem by recent evidence to have been required to pay as high as $600 for their places.

Neighborhood rivalry runs so high in one part of Wasco county, Ore., that they steal bridges and move them to other roads. An organized watch has to be maintained to prevent more depredations of the same kind.

A burglar got into a room over an Edgerton, Wis., bank and when night came spent two hours cutting a hole through the floor in order to let himself down with a rope ladder. Of course, the safe was locked and, as he had provided no means of blowing it open, he didn't get a cent.

An order has recently been issued from the British admiralty to the effect that sentries on duty on men-of-war shall not wear side arms in the neighborhood of electric dynamos. This is because the bayonet becomes magnetized through close proximity to dynamos, with the result that compasses are affected by sentries passing near them.

MISS KENYON TRIES THE GAZETTE PIANO.

PRIZE DELIVERED TO HER LAST EVENING.

Many Friends Call and Are Loud In Their Praises Of the Tone and Finish Of the Instrument—A Card From Miss Holt Thanking Her Friends.

Miss Cora Kenyon received The Gazette piano last evening.

It was a surprise to her, for the piano arrived before word was received of how the vote resulted.

"A good many of my friends tried the piano during the evening," said Miss Kenyon, "and they were delighted with its tone. I haven't heard anything but the most enthusiastic praise for the instrument."

The result of the contest was eagerly awaited. There was general anxiety as to who would succeed. Not even the World's Fair vote was watched as closely by Janesville folks. This was due in a large measure to the value of the prize. When The Gazette arranged for the contest the best upright piano in the market was sought. Musicians declared that the Shaw was unsurpassed. In tone, finish and workmanship, they declared, no piano made could excel it. Acting upon this good advice the Shaw piano was chosen. The choice has never been regretted. It was essential to the success of the plan that the piano offered be as good as money could buy. A second-grade piano is something no young lady wants and the Gazette had no idea of limiting the interest by such a handicap. All who admired the prize in S. C. Burnham & Co's. store admitted that no finer instrument could be desired.

Miss Ellen Holt, who came so near winning the piano sent to the Gazette today this note:

"Miss Ellen Holt wishes to thank her many friends for their kindness in assisting her with votes and coupons in the contest for the piano given by The Gazette Printing Company. She also wishes to return thanks to the Gazette for the fair treatment she received and the perfect impartiality shown."

Miss Holt's friends made a vigorous campaign in her behalf and the way the votes poured in made it seem probable at several junctures that she would be the winner.

HARPER'S HISTORY OF THE WAR

Harper's Pictorial History is universally recognized as the best history of the war yet published. This superb work has never been sold for less than $16 to $30. It has been sold only by subscription and but a very few men have been able to buy it.

The pages are the same size as Harper's Weekly and the work contains all the illustrations appearing in that great paper during the war. The work was edited by Richard Grant White and Henry M. Alden and is authentic, complete and reliable.

We have made arrangements whereby we can furnish Gazette subscribers with this splendid history of twenty-six parts at ten cents a part. These twenty-six parts will contain over one thousand war pictures and will make two handsome volumes when bound.

Many official documents of priceless historic value are quoted in full in the copious foot notes, such for instance as Lincoln's inauguration speeches, articles of federation of the early states, constitution of the United States, ordinance of secession, and many important papers, speeches, etc. The war story is consecutive and very fascinating. The introductory chapters, leading up to the struggle, and the chapter on the reconstruction period, are by some of the first writers of the age.

THE LITTLE TERROR.

How Baby Amused Itself on the Street Car.

It was a very cunning little child, just beginning to talk, and its mother manipulated it so as to show its sweetness to the best advantage for the rest of the passengers. The lady who sat beside the mother on the cross seat of the car smiled at it, the woman opposite chirped at it, the man across the aisle let it play with his cane. Amid all these attentions the little one crowded and laughed and squirmed around in the very ecstasy of pleasure.

Every now and then, however, the child turned toward the lady next to it, and regarded her with fixed admiration. Finally it put out its chubby hand and cautiously felt her nose through her veil. Then everybody looked at the nose and saw that it was red. Conscious of this observation the woman with the nose got red cheeks and a red neck. The nose in the meantime lighted up like a beacon, greatly to the delight of the baby, who grabbed at it under the impression, evidently, that the nose had been colored up for its especial enjoyment.

"Pitty!" cried the child, trying at the same time to take hold of the nose.

The unfeeling man with whose cane the baby had been playing, grinned as he picked up the discarded stick, and the mother tried to choke the baby off with kisses. The other women smiled sweetly—all but the woman with the red nose. She was mad enough to bite the child's head off. But the little innocent began to pinch its mother's nose, and make a mental comparison between that organ and the nose shining through the veil. This was certainly odious. But the closer the infant studied the two noses the more satisfied it appeared to be that the red nose was the most desirable. So it playfully grabbed for the red nose once more, to the equal discomfiture of the owner of the nose and the owner of the baby. At that point the woman with the nose arose and made for the door, the baby began to yell with disappointment and the spectators laughed merrily.

Bathing Suit Laws in New Zealand.

By way of showing how Mrs. Grundism flourishes wherever the British flag flies, a reader at Napier, New Zealand, sends Labouchere's Truth a copy of the new bathing by-law which has been promulgated there. One provision is as follows: "Every person bathing in the sea, or in any river or other water within, or within one mile of, the boundaries of the borough, of Napier, shall be attired in a decent and proper bathing dress, extending from the shoulders to the knees, no white or flesh color or net garments to be worn."

Another Form of Dissipation.

Timid Little Girl—What is it they come here to buy when a man's been out late and—been excited, you know, and feels bad next morning?

Druggist—They usually call for bromide or something of that kind.

Timid Little Girl—I guess that's what I want. Give me a dime's worth. Papa was up nearly all night arguin' about infant baptism with the minister.

What Made Her Sad.

The world was moved to pity at the sight of her woeful face. Thus it happened that the world halted in its headlong flight and gazed upon her. "Little girl—" The world spoke in a soft, gentle way, which seemed to fit it strangely. "What makes you sad?" Her curving lashes dropped upon her cheek. Her lips quivered. "I'll admit," she rejoined, "the boys fielded rotten, but I do believe it was mostly the umpire's rankness that lost us the game." The world lingered just long enough to fill its lungs with good fresh air, when it proceeded on its way as if nothing had happened. —Detroit Tribune.

 For order county republican committee.
 W. T. VANKIRK, Chairman.

NO GROUND FOR A STRIKE.

Is there any sense in a sympathetic strike?

Can anyone who takes part in such a lawless undertaking give an intelligent reason for so doing?

Has it occurred to the railway employees who are just now having a holiday at the country's expense, that the hereafter of riot and anarchy is worth considering?

The Pullman men are voluntarily idle, and the organization of which Debbs is the controlling spirit makes war on the railways and industries of the country in consequence.

Any man of intelligence who will give the matter any thought at all, knows that the outcome of lawlessness is punishment in any country. Every American citizen ought to know that his government depends on the law abiding disposition of its subjects, and this class of citizens are vastly in the majority. The present boycott and the resulting lawlessness are doomed to a speedy end. Success to such an undertaking would mean danger to the republic.

Of all the senseless strikes and boycotts that ever cursed any country, the one that now runs rampant throughout the west is without a parallel. When a class of men under the directorship of a crank like Debbs can block the wheels of commerce and demoralize the great railway service of the country it is high time that the heavy hand of the government be invoked and the distasteful interference put down.

THERE will be sport for Janesville shooters at the club grounds tomorrow. A fourth of July match has been arranged with the number of birds and the entry fee as follows: 1—fifteen singles, $1.45, 2—ten singles, $1.30, 3—ten singles, five pair, $2.00, 4—twelve singles, $1.50, 5—fifteen singles, $1.95, 6—five pair, $1.30, 7—ten singles, $1.20, 8—twenty-five singles, $2.75, 9—ten singles, $1.30, 10—fifteen singles, $1.95, 11—twenty singles, $2.60, 12—ten singles, $1.30. Money divided 40, 30, 20, 10 per cent. Nos. 2, 5, 7 to be from five unknown traps, known angles; other known traps, unknown angles.

Mrs. CARRIE JACOBS BOND will entertain a number of her Janesville friends tomorrow evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. B. Minor, 9 North Main street. The entertainment will be in the form of a musical and Mrs. Bond has arranged a very attractive programme which will consist entirely of her own compositions. One particularly choice number "The Mothers Cradle Song" will be sung by Mrs. Ada Ash who has very kindly consented to interpret this selection for her old school friends.

We call attention to the new advertisement of W. L. Douglas's $3 shoe which appears in our issue to-day. We have every assurance from the manufacturer that the recent improvements in style and quality will give more satisfaction than ever to the wearers of these popular shoes. Brown Bros. & Lincoln are the sole Janesville agents.

CHARLES SEXTON, delegate to the populist state convention, left for Milwaukee this morning to get on the ground floor with Robert Schilling in the convention to-morrow morning. James Cleland will go to Milwaukee to-morrow morning as a delegate to the same convention.

N. N. JACKMAN, of Harmony, harvested his rye crop yesterday, or rather finished cutting and shocking. This is considerable earlier than I ever harvested before," said Mr. Jackman, "but my rye was ready and I went at it."

Two hundred and sixty pairs of shoes sold yesterday at an average of $2 a pair. This is a fair trade, but if we had been "foot fitters" we might have sold double the amount. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

C. & N. W. MEN OFF
UNTIL TRAINS RUN.ROUND HOUSE FORCE LEFT WITHOUT WORK.

Freight Handlers Also Have Nothing To Do and Are Given An Enforced Vacation Until the Situation Changes—Vegetables and Fruit Are Very Scarce.

Two or three men keep guard at the C. & N. W. round house today. Agent C. E. Ranous is alone with the telegraph operator at the freight depot.

All the section men have been laid off except one track walker on each section.

When there is no work to do no men are needed, the C. & N. W. authorities argue, and today all superfluous men were laid off until the end of the strike.

Freight trains have been generally abandoned both on the Northwestern and St. Paul railways, and passenger trains are most uncertain in their arrival and departure. The north bound limited on the Northwestern due here at 1:15 this morning did not reach the Chicago depot until 8 o'clock being over two and a half hours behind time. This was due to a general tie up at Harburo, and the great difficulty in getting a fireman for the engine. The express from Green Bay was on time this morning but the noon train from the south was two hours late. The Dakota express via Afton was nearly three hours late in leaving Chicago and was delayed along the line. The American Express Co. got very little freight today and Agent McLean was ordered to accept no shipments.

Vegetables Are Getting Scarce. The effect of the tie ups is beginning to be felt in Janesville, especially by the dealers in vegetables, which are mostly supplied at this season from Tennessee, and reach northern points generally by the Illinois Central road. This supply of vegetables has been entirely cut off, the only fresh supply obtained for local consumption being the scanty home production. Janesville dealers universally depend on the Chicago commission houses for their supply of berries, in the absence of home-grown, and also for early vegetables. The supply is now entirely cut off.

"Prices have not advanced," said one West Milwaukee street dealer this morning, "for the simple reason that we cannot get the stuff here to sell. I suppose, however, that in case the tie up was broken, prices would be advanced, as the supply would necessarily be limited for several days."

Prices Jump on All Green Goods. "In Chicago, vegetables of almost description, potatoes, tomatoes, beans, cucumbers, etc., have advanced in price from 50 to 150 per cent. Many carloads of vegetables are detained on the track at Cairo, and when they do reach their destination they will be practically ruined, and a crate of beans, ordinarily worth $1.50 will not be worth fifteen cents. The damage falls upon the shipper, as the commission men take no risk."

"I suppose, the shipper will fall back on the railway company," said a Chicago traveling salesman, "but how they will succeed in this is a question. Certain it is that some one will lose very heavily because of the tie up of vegetables and fruit shipments. The Illinois Central is the greatest fruit and vegetable road in the west, and one day's delay in that road causes a very great deal of shrinkage and trouble."

Meat Can't Be Shipped. Janesville butchers are inconvenienced greatly on account of the freight abandonment. It is impossible for them to get their accustomed supply from Chicago. The express company has been called upon in a number of cases to transport dressed beef for the local dealers, but the uncertainty of the arrival of express trains will make this only open avenue very uncertain, as the dressed meat outside of the refrigerators cars is not likely to stand the extreme high temperature many hours.

Janesville quotations on oats and corn are affected seriously by the tie-up. Oats that have been sold at forty cents all this summer went begging at thirty two cents today.

JOHN MARZLUFF BADLY INJURED. Internal Hurts Are Feared—Collision With a Street Car on Milwaukee Street.

John Marzluff was severely injured last evening in a collision with a street car on West Milwaukee street. Mr. Marzluff was driving on the street and attempted to cross the track ahead of an approaching car. His light wagon was upset and he went to the pavement like a log. Besides a cut on the back of the head it is thought he sustained some internal injury by his heavy fall, he being well advanced in years. The fire patrol ambulance took Mr. Marzluff to his home in the Fourth ward. Dr. C. L. Clark attended him.

Trade Increased 55 Per Cent. Brown Bros. & Lincoln's trade for the month of June, 1894, was 55 per cent. better than for the month of June, 1893. The above are facts and can be proven. Their sales show that they did not sell as many high priced shoes as in June, 1893, but their sales were a great many more, thus making their volume of business larger. Doubling the number of customers speaks very highly for advertising. Any skeptic can be assured of this fact by calling on Messrs. Brown Bros. & Lincoln. During this month this house proposes to double their business. Prices will do it. They have a firm hold on the shoe business of Janesville and propose to keep it.

John Campion Sells Tobacco at Five and Two Cents

John Campion of Harmony delivered his '93 tobacco crop this morning to S. B. Heddles, receiving 5 and 2 cents.

"I wish congress would get through meddling with the tariff," said Mr. Campion, "so we farmers could get better prices."

Mr. Campion was among the enthusiastic followers of Grover Cleveland two years ago, but he is politically silent now days when he comes into the city, and wears a melancholy look when political subjects are mentioned.

DOINGS OF AFTON PEOPLE.

Election of Officers by the Y. P. S. C. E. Lecture by a Native Persian.

AFTON, July 3.—The iron bridge crossing Rock river here is receiving a fresh coat of paint. The Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. elected officers as follows: Sunday evening: President, Inez N. Charles; vice-president, W. J. Miller; recording secretary, U. G. Waite; corresponding secretary, Rose B. Eldredge; treasurer, J. F. Bolte. H. R. Charles was down from Lima for a few days visit with Afton people last week. A. C. Powers, O. D. Antisdel, W. M. Kleber, John Kirner, and C. F. Waite represented Afton Camp 2192 M. W. A. at the big picnic held at Sycamore, Ill., last Thursday. Sherman K. Oergez, a native Persian will lecture at the Baptist church Tuesday evening, July 3, on Persia and its people. Misses Bertha and Anna Tank returned from their visit with Milwaukee relatives. The report that E. C. Burdick is a candidate for nomination to the office of clerk of the circuit court on the republican ticket will prove gratifying to his many friends and neighbors in the town of Rock. There will be no question as to the attitude of the town delegates in the matter.

CHINCH BUGS THICK IN SHOPPIERS

Rye and Barley Infested With the Insects—A. H. Manley's Tall Corn.

SHOPIERE, July 3.—The chinch bugs are very thick in the rye and barley, but those two crops are so far advanced that they will not be injured much. A. H. Manley has the largest corn in Rock county. On the first day of July it measured over five feet. Miss Nettie Bell and sister, from Beloit, have been visiting Miss Nellie Holmes the past week. The Woodman picnic at Sycamore drew representatives from Shoppiere camp. All enjoyed it. On Friday afternoon during the exercises at the school house in the Barrett district Fred Band's barn was discovered to be on fire. Everybody ran and they got there in time to save the horses that were in the barn. The barn burned with the granary. It was insured in the town of Turtle for $450. Charles Zelding has a large amount of binding twine that he can sell cheap. He is agent for the Osborn binder and mowers and all kinds of farm implements and machine oil. Mr. and Mrs. Harry McArthur from Fort Atkinson, are visiting their parents in this place, Mr. and Mrs. Parker. Mrs. William Schenk arrived in Omaha on Friday last where she intends to spend the summer. She will visit Salt Lake City before her return.

A Common Conversation. Yesterday two men who buy the best shoes stood looking into Brown Bros. & Lincoln's window, one said to the other, "Isn't it strange how these people are selling fine shoes, such a trade is phenomenal in Janesville. I buy all my shoes here." We can name these gentlemen if the "foot fitters" desire it.

HARNESS SHOP SHUT
BY WEIGHT OF DEBT.WILLIAM SADLER MAKES A VOLUNTARY ASSIGNMENT

He Has Not Been Able to Give Personal Attention to His Business For Some Time and Others Have Not Kept It In Very Good Shape.

William Sadler, the South Main street harness maker, has failed.

Mr. Sadler made a voluntary assignment last evening, naming Oscar F. Nowlan assignee.

Mr. Sadler had a small harness shop at Fort Atkinson, which was operated in connection with the Janesville shop, and this, too, was included in the assignment. Neither liabilities or assets will be known for some days, as an inventory has yet to be made.

Assignee Nowlan visited Fort Atkinson this morning, taking possession of the stock in that place. "I at once packed up the stock, and endeavored to ship it to this city, but the local freight agent would not receive it," said Mr. Nowlan this afternoon; "so I loaded it into wagons and started it off for Janesville by teams. I expect it will arrive some time this evening. I have not seen Mr. Sadler's books, and I do not know anything about his liabilities. Neither can I tell anything about the amount or the assets. An inventory will be made in a few days, and then something more definite will be known."

It is claimed Mr. Sadler knows very little about the details of his affairs. Mr. Sadler has been in the harness business in Janesville upwards of thirty years, and it was supposed by all that he was doing quite an extensive business. Some years ago he lost his sight, since which time he has been unable to attend personally to the details of his business, which has been entrusted to others.

Mrs. Sarah Blay

Mrs. Sarah Blay died at her home, 201 Locust street at 1 o'clock this morning, aged eighty-three years.

Death was the result of a general breaking down of her constitution, she having been sick but a few days. Mrs. Blay had resided in Janesville upwards of thirty years, coming to this city from Pennsylvania, five years after the death of her husband.

She was a devout christian lady, although she was not actively identified with church work. She leaves a family of seven children to mourn her death—Mrs. Charles Will, of Rockford; Mrs. D. K. Clink, of Chicago; Mrs. S. D. Kelly, of Grand Island, Nebraska; Mrs. Edward Rathern, Miss Belle Blay and Charles W. and George Blay, of this city. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

The funeral will take place at the residence Thursday at 10 o'clock.

A Common Conversation. Yesterday two men who buy the best shoes stood looking into Brown Bros. & Lincoln's window, one said to the other, "Isn't it strange how these people are selling fine shoes, such a trade is phenomenal in Janesville. I buy all my shoes here." We can name these gentlemen if the "foot fitters" desire it.

Wild Cherry Phosphate, a delicious temperance beverage. Directions: One teaspoonful of Wild Cherry is sufficient for an ordinary half pint glass. Sweeten with a teaspoonful or less of sugar. To make a gallon of beverage, use 2 to 2 1-2 ounces of Wild Cherry and a pound of sugar. The most convenient for every day family use is to make a syrup. To a 25 cent bottle of Wild Cherry use 1 1/2 pounds of sugar and 1 pint of water, hot or cold; mix all together until sugar is dissolved; then strain through cotton. One to one-half ounces of this syrup in a glass mixed with cold water makes a delicious and healthy drink, the same as we serve at our fountain every day.

A PRETTY HAT.

222 Made of Black Lace Shirred on Wires and Edged With Jet.

Somebody has lately raised his voice for the purpose of disillusioning us and destroying the poetical associations of our hats. He says that neapolitan braid—that fine, lacy material, made of horsehair—is not Neapolitan at all, but was invented by a man in New York who gave it that name because he could not think of anything else to call it. So goodbye to all dreams of Vesuvius and the bay of Naples in connection with our bonnets. Thus are most of our idols—and idols—shattered. We dress our salad with olive oil, nominally the product of sunny Tuscany, only to discover later that it is made from the domestic peanut. We eat Mediterranean salad, ascertaining by and by that they were caught off the coast of Maine. Our Brie cheese is made in Orange county; our French wines come from California; our spaghetti never came near salt water until it was cooked. Since, as it appears, we must use our own products, why not announce to the world in general that we really are sufficient to ourselves and honestly call American goods by American names, thus avoiding the payment of duty on imported titles?

Black hats, neapolitan and others, are much worn this year and are often profusely trimmed with ostrich plumes, which are again in full vogue. They are a perishable sort of decoration, although very beautiful, for the least dampness in the air destroys the lovely curl that is their chief charm and make them stiff and flat, and recurring never restores them to their pristine beauty. The spangled plumes are especially sensitive to moisture, their frost vanishing before a fog as natural frost does before the sun.

Moire ribbon shows no decline of popularity as a trimming for hat and bonnets. It combines well with jet and spangles and has the glitter which is this season conceived necessary to a fashionable effect. Yellow and black is a popular combination, and a very pretty gold colored straw braid has been brought out, wide and glossy, but light. It is fragile in spite of its coarse weave and will not bear rough usage.

A sketch is given of a large round hat made of black lace shirred on wires. It is edged with jet spangles and trimmed with chantilly lace which forms two large wings in front. These serve as a background to two jet wings fastened together in the middle by a knot of ribbon from which springs a jet aigret.

A FLAVOR OF SENTIMENT.

Decorative Touch to the Practical Idea of Womankind.

"A woman's greatest charms are those least easily analyzed."

"A woman is not truly beautiful until the angel of sorrow has touched her with his wing."

These are two of the innumerable prettily expressed fancies with which the French nation adds a flavor of sentiment to its practical everyday life as it adds a decorative touch to the ubiquitous negligee morning sack by means of a bow of ribbon. We in America have still something to learn from the older countries, although not perhaps on the points upon which we are most willing to receive instruction. We are so scientific and so progressive that we leave no room for sentiment in our life and are in danger of setting down into a sort of highly moral materialism. Sentiment, even if it occasionally degenerates into sentimentality, is a genuine relief from the utilitarianism which is the atmosphere in which we exist as a people. The French are scientific and even more thrifty than ourselves, but they contrive to take life with the bloom on it and make living in some sense an artistic pleasure, whereas half of us live because we must and are constantly conscious of the fact that it is very tedious work indeed. We are inclined to ignore our emotions and afford them no escape valve, so permitting them to concentrate their force until they break out into serious demonstration. Perhaps we shall never improve in that direction, and if so we can only lay it to the climate, which already bears the responsibility of our nasal accent and our restlessness.

The climate is just now particularly torrid and suggestive of thin gowns, an illustration of one of which is given. It is of the shade of green called tilleul, and the lower skirt is of taffeta, accordion plaited. The second one is of crepon to match, cut in a large point back and front and trimmed with a flounce of white point de venise. The Eton jacket has revers of lace, which part to show a full vest of taffeta. The full elbow sleeves are finished with a lace flounce and a band and bow of black satin, and the waist is encircled by a black satin belt.

ALL OVER THE GLOBE
—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are known. They are far more effective in purging the liver to action than the old-fashioned cathartic pills, calomel or other preparations, and are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. No care is required while using them.
They cure biliousness, sick headache, costiveness, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

Montgomery, Orange Co., N. Y.
DR. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I suffered untold misery with bleeding piles. I could get no relief night or day, until I commenced using your "Pleasant Pellets," and now for two years or more, I have not been troubled with the piles; if my bowels get in a constipated condition, I take a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and the trouble is all dispelled by next day.

He was a commercial traveler of the more flashy type and had just finished telling a startling story to his newly-made acquaintance in the car.

"That reminds me of one of Munchausen's yarns," remarked the victim for want of something better to say.

"Munchausen—who is he?"

"Why, don't you know about him? He is the most colossal example of mendacity that civilization has produced."

A brief painful silence ensued, which was broken by the traveler in a tone that was almost timid.

"Excuse me, my friend," he said, "if I seem inquisitive. But would you mind telling me what house he travels for?"—Washington Star.

LEISURELY TRAVELING.

The Women Boats of Greenland and Their Easy Rate of Progress.

The women boats of the Greenlanders are so called because, unlike the kaiaks, they are rowed by women. They are open, flat-bottomed, inconvenient sea-boats, but large enough for a family and the family goods—tents, household implements, dogs, children and the rest.

They are rowed by as many as half a score of oarswomen, and sometimes make a run of fifty English miles a day. They are generally steered by the father of the family, while the other male members follow in their kaiaks.

In their women boats, says Dr. Nansen, the Greenlanders used to move from one hunting ground to another all through the summer. For one or two months they always went far up the fiords in search of reindeer, and there they lived on the fat of the land.

In those days they often took long journeys up and down the west coast, as they do to this day on the east coast. These journeys are sometimes 500 miles in length.

They do not generally travel quickly. One of the two women boats which we met on the east coast at Cape Bille in 1888, on their way southward did not reach Pamiagluk, west of Cape Farewell, until two years later, in 1890; and this is only a distance of some 180 miles, which we with our boats could no doubt have covered in a week or two.

But as soon as the Eskimos come to a place where there are plenty of seals they go ashore, pitch their camp, take to hunting, and live at their ease. At the approach of autumn they choose a good site, build a winter house, and continue their journey in the spring or summer as soon as the ice permits.

The women boats in question had in this manner spent three years on the passage from Umvik, and would no doubt take nearly as long to return.

The other woman boat that was passing south from Cape Bille got as far as Nanusek, about sixty-five miles from the trading settlements west of Cape Farewell, and there went into winter quarters, but then the father of the family died, and they faced round and set about the long journey back to Angmagalik, without ever having reached their goal, the trading settlements, or accomplished their errand.

It is impracticable in Boston.

The very latest fashion in uncovering the head as a salute has reached Boston by way of New York. It consists in lifting the hat from the head and then suddenly thrusting it straight out before you at arm's length. On Broadway no other style of salutation is recognized as good form, but in the crowded and narrow streets of Boston it is most difficult of achievement. It is not unusual for a man who attempts it to not only smash his hat, but to waste ten minutes in apologizing to the people who were too near him when he executed the salute. It has to be done with such a jerk to be effective that one stands a good chance giving the person in front of him a notion that he has been sand-bagged, and it is difficult to explain away an impression like that.—Boston Journal.

Appendicitis and Grip.

Observant physicians begin to believe that appendicitis and grip have a relation of effect and cause. Appendicitis was never so common as it has been since grip visited this country, and a physician who has performed many operations for the cure of the former advances the theory that grip produces a catarrhal condition of the vermiform appendix and finally, in some cases, induces the state of acute inflammation to which the name appendicitis is applied. Grip is now manifesting itself with many variations.

Gigantic Birds.

A collection of bird bones recently received by the Paris academy of science indicates that at a period contemporary with man, Madagascar contained at least twelve species of the gigantic birds, all incapable of flight. The conditions under which the bones were found indicate that the birds lived on shores, with troops of small hippopotami, crocodiles and turtles.

UNDER THE BAN.

Shadowed the Clergyman, Whom He Took for a Burglar.

"It is not often that clergymen are suspected of being dangerous criminals," said Rev. E. L. Metcalf of New York, to the Globe-Democrat man lately, "but a number of years ago I was placed under the ban of such suspicion and closely watched by the police for several hours. I had exchanged pulpits with a country minister for two weeks, and on my return home had to travel three miles in a stage coach to the railroad. On the route the driver heard something rattle in my carpetbag which sounded like pieces of steel striking together. He at once jumped to the conclusion that I was a burglar, and on our arrival at the depot hunted up an officer and imparted his suspicions to him. In the meantime I passed up and down the platform with my carpetbag in my hand, entirely ignorant of the amount of interest I had created. The policeman was also sure that I was a burglar, and that I had a complete set of burglar tools in my valise. He did not like to run the risk of arresting me, however, but told an acquaintance who was going by the same train what he suspected, and to keep a strict watch on me and notify the authorities upon my arrival in New York. The man followed his instructions to the letter, and I was struck dumb with amazement when on our arrival in the city I was approached by a policeman and told to consider myself under arrest. The officer would not give me any satisfaction as to the cause of my being taken into custody, but said I would find out at the station. I was accordingly conducted thither, where I was at once recognized by at least a dozen policemen, who laughed heartily at the 'important capture' of their brother officer. The rattling noise in my valise that had so alarmed the driver of the stage was caused by a pair of scissors coming in contact with my shaving mug."

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

Dr. FRANKLIN MILES, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with the nerve centers being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion, pressure, vertigo, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle.

EARLY EGYPT.

As It Appeared When Joseph Was Taken Captive.

When Joseph was carried captive into Egypt by the Arab traders, whose camels were laden with "spices, balm and myrrh," the rustic Hebrew found himself in the heart of a rich and populous country filled with great cities adorned with magnificent buildings—a country governed by ancient and equitable laws—having a venerable church wealthily endowed, and an enlightened priesthood; containing numerous colleges and schools, and teeming with the products of the known world. Linen, glass, ornaments of silver and gold, and beautiful examples of cabinet work and objects of art and refinement, were of home manufacture. Various gymnastic exercises, and the game of draughts, ball, mora, and other well-known modern amusements were common at the same period. The army and navy were well equipped and drilled, and furnished with powerful machines and deadly weapons. Sculptors, painters and scribes abounded, and three modes of writing were practiced. Musical instruments were numerous, and consisted of cymbals, trumpets, drums, harps, guitars, lyres, flutes, pipes and others. Yet Troy was not built until about three and a half centuries after. Two hundred years elapsed before Athens was founded, and 1,000 before Romulus laid the foundations of Rome; 800 before Hercules was born, and 1,200 before Pythagoras wandered into Egypt and drank from the fountains of ancient learning.

MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the spinal cord, near the base of the brain, and so sensitive is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.

Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

Dr. FRANKLIN MILES, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with the nerve centers being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. LUCK IN ODD NUMBERS.

Superstitions of Modern Gamblers Which Prevailed in Ancient Days.

If there is one active principle that enters into gambling it is superstition, and, according to the New York Herald, almost every man that hunts the elusive dollar over the desolate waste of green baize cloth or on the race track or in any of the other multitudinous ways or places that one may lay siege to alluring fortune there has a separate fancy. "Jack" McDonald, one of the best known bookmakers in America, believes that he is most successful in those years which are indicated by odd numbers, and if you are doubtful of the truth he will offer you figures to prove it. "Charley B." as Bookmaker Woolf is best known, has a steadfast belief in "3," and after he has selected a horse to bet upon he will place an extra heavy wager on him if he discovers that he is numbered "3" on the program. Several superstitious betting men at the Morris Park races a few years ago noticed the coincidence that thirteenth day of the meeting fell upon June 13 and they straightway sought out a horse numbered "13" on the card. They found one and bet upon him, and, to make the coincidence more strange, he won. That this belief in luck as applied to certain numbers is as old as our philosophy is shown by the fact that centuries before the Christian era the Pythagoreans and Platonists, who represented all movements and phenomena of nature by numbers, invented the science of arithmancy, consisting of the use of magical squares and applying occult powers to numbers. On the combinations of certain numbers depended systems of divination, and particular virtues were ascribed to numbers accordingly as they are odd or even.

"There's luck in odd numbers," is a saying that is old as the hills. As ancient a writer as Virgil says the gods themselves esteemed the numbers odd, for in the eighth epilogue he wrote:

Around his waxen image first I wind
Three woolen fillets of three colors joined;
Thrice round his thrice devoted head,
Which round the sacred altar thrice is led,
Unequal numbers please the gods.
The Chinese have similar ideas. With them heaven is odd and the earth even, and the numbers 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, belong to heaven, while the digits are of the earth earthy.

A Singular Story.

In a public address delivered in Pittsburg a few days ago, Rev. Dr. Sheldrake, of Kentucky, related these singular stories: "There was a member of the Kentucky presbytery, whom I knew very well, who frequently went into a sort of walking sleep. While in this condition he would preach most eloquent sermons, but when he came out he could not remember a word that he had said. On one occasion a copy of the French testament was handed to him to conduct family worship at the house of a well-known citizen of Frankfort. Although utterly ignorant of the French language, he read a chapter and then commented thereon at length in English. On another occasion, while in this condition, he remarked to his friends that a certain minister in Nebraska was in trouble, and that he had just written a letter to Kentucky detailing the circumstances. He then proceeded to give the contents of the letter, and his words were taken down by some one present. Two days later the letter arrived from Nebraska, and it was identical, word for word, with the one the minister had dictated while in the walking sleep." The speaker cited these instances to show the life of the soul independent of the body, and argued therefrom the immortality of the former.

Guard English Royal Family.

LONDON, July 2.—Since Carnot's death all members of the royal family of England are protected by detectives. A close watch is kept to prevent any attempt being made on the life of the czarwitsch, who is at present in England visiting his betrothed, Princess Alix of Hesse.

To Put Their Power to the Test.
